

Twice the Joy! Sisters and Tepeyac OB/GYN Patients Give Birth a Day Apart

“With her first child, Kelly went to Tepeyac OB/GYN in Fairfax, a pro-life health care center. She went to a provider closer to home for her second pregnancy, but after seeing the difference in care she received, she later returned to Tepeyac. “They were pushing genetic testing, they were pushing birth control so hard,” said Kelly. But at Tepeyac, she felt that the providers saw the inherent value in her child.

That became even more evident when the couple had a miscarriage.

“We were at Tepeyac for that and I was so grateful because they called the baby by her name,” said Kelly. Seeing her sister go through that experience convinced Abigail to go to Tepeyac for her pregnancy care too. “
